

Interview: What to Bring

Several Copies of Your Resume:

Bring multiple copies of your updated resume to provide to the interviewer(s) and to reference during the interview.

Professional References List:

Have a list of professional references with their contact information, in case the interviewer requests it.

Portfolio or Work Samples (if applicable):

If your work involves tangible examples, such as design projects, writing samples, or presentations, bring a portfolio or relevant work samples to showcase your skills.

Notebook and Pen:

Carry a notebook and pen to jot down any important information, questions, or key points during the interview.

Questions for the Interviewer:

Prepare a list of thoughtful questions to ask the interviewer about the company, the team, and the role.

Identification:

Bring a form of identification, such as a driver's license or passport, in case the company requires it for verification purposes.

Directions and Contact Information:

Carry the address and contact information of the company in case of unexpected delays or if you need to contact them.

Portfolio or Folder:

Use a professional portfolio or folder to keep your documents organized and easily accessible.

By ensuring you have these items with you, you can present yourself as a well-prepared and organized candidate during the interview.
